

it's the Grand Legacy Way ...

WELCOME ! Grand Legacy festivities usually begin when the doors open at 7pm. We start in our signature “Pot-Luck-meets-Dom-Perignon” eat, drink and be merry mode. Making the Grand Legacy Studio ambiance even more delightful, Terese Weber (tereseweber.com) keeps things perfectly tuned with incidental harp music during the evening. There’s no rush or pressure. Everyone has plenty of time to graze and get fully caught up and warmed up with old (and new) friends. The featured program generally begins at 8pm with a short pause near the middle so guests can get up and move around, eat, drink and talk a bit more, stretch legs or move to a different seat. The feeling is “Houston-gemütlich.” Come and go as you please. Enjoy the art on display throughout the house. Experience the best live acoustics you’re likely to find anywhere. Stay late or leave early.

Be part of the evening ...

Everyone can get in the act and play a part. Bring whatever food, sides, wine, desserts, or delicacies you like. Feel free to steal the show with your favorite dishes or refreshments. Feeling adventurous? Go for it. If you can't think of anything, (even if you can) bring money. There’s no set ticket price, however, contributions for the benefit of program artists and to cover incidental costs of the evening are encouraged and greatly appreciated. ($15-20 is about right for most guests)

RSVP right away !

When you get a Grand Legacy invitation, Don't Delay! Seating capacity is limited and often fills up in a few days. Send RSVP requests to rsvp@GrandLegacyStudio.com. If you're not already on our mailing list, please provide your complete contact information with your RSVP.
